RACE FOR CONGRESS.

Candidates Are Beginning To Shake Hands.

Will Allen Run Again?—Political Notes Of Local Interest.

Both W. H. Howell, of this city, and A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, have announced their intention to enter the race for congress next year to succeed H. D. Allen. Mr. Allen may also offer again.

In this connection the Madisonville Hustler says: "Hopkins county has a good man ready to enter the fight whenever the opportune moment arrives, and when he enters they are bound to keep their eyes on him."

In mentioning the candidacy of Mr. Stanley the Owensboro Inquirer says: "He says that he thinks Mr. Allen will not be in the race for congress. If Mr. Stanley will still remain on the track, and believe that he can win, in spite of the popularity of the present congressman."

Senator Clements, late assistant Democratic elector, intended to enter the race but it is understood that he will run, instead, for commonwealth's attorney of the Owensboro district to succeed J. Edwin Rowe, who is under indictment for malfeasance and misfeasance in office. The indications are based on alleged compromising of gambling and other prosecutions without reporting to the court.

The indications charge that he has been dismissed on the ground of insufficient evidence to convict, when in reality he accepts money from the parties to have them disposed of. Clements is county attorney of Daviess county and has charge of the prosecution of the man to whose office he aspires.

Mr. Howell is in Hopkins county this week looking after his political friends. Senator Orinshaw spent Monday in Madisonville mingling with his political friends and discussing the senatorial situation. He has been requested, as heretofore stated in the New Era, by the Democratic county committee to be a candidate to succeed himself, and in the event he decides to announce it is likely he will easily receive the nomination, and very probably without any opposition whatever.

The Madisonville Hustler says: "Our friend, Jay Stark, from just over the line in Christian, near White Plains, was in the city yesterday from the Old Fiddlers' contest at Hopkinsville, where he took off a prize. We feel like Jay is really a Hopkins county man, and as he was born and reared in the county and takes as much interest in Hopkins county politics as a county man. Quite a number of his Democratic friends have suggested to us that he would be a fine nominee for senator from this district, and we take pleasure in mentioning his name in this connection. Should he conclude to accept the position, there is no doubt that he would be strongly endorsed, and should be nominated there is no doubt that he would prove a strong candidate before the people. There is not a true Democrat or a better man in the district than Jay Stark and nothing the party could do for him would be too good."

In reference to fusion between the Christian county Democrats and independent Republicans, the Henderson Gloucester says:

"Christian is very strongly Republican and any proposition tending to a disruption of that majority will meet the approval of all who desire good government and the success of Democracy."

Test Case.

(SPECIAL TO NEW ERA.) FRANKFORT, Ky., April 24.—All suits of the minor state officers under Taylor against Auditor Connor for salaries were continued except that of O. R. Hemphill, Cashier Powers' secretary. In this test case the court held that there was no cause for action. This indicates that all the cases will be quashed.

Miners Won.

(Special to New Era.) CENTRAL City, Ky., April 24.—The 200 miners, who struck Monday because 4 miners who had not paid assessments for support of Hopkins county miners were allowed to remain at work, returned to work in the Central Coal & Iron Companies' mines today, having won their contention.

HOPKINSVILLE COUPLE

Eloped To Rockport, Indiana, And Were United In Marriage.

Miss Ella Porter, of Hopkinsville, and Mr. Luther Hord, late of the same place, went over to Rockport yesterday and were married. Hord left Hopkinsville about three weeks ago to accept a position with the Owensboro Buggy Company and secured board at Mrs. Ford's, on Third and Center streets. After working here a while and convincing Mr. Porter that he had gone for good, Hord slipped back to the home of his sweetheart, who was waiting for him, and they left at once for this city, arriving here Monday and taking the Galselle for Rockport, where they were married in the clerk's office. They returned last night on the J. O. Kerr and went to Mrs. Ford's where they will board.—Owensboro Messenger.

RATHER DIE THAN WORK.

Lizzie Jarrett's Three Attempts At Suicide.

Found Hanging—Once Set Her Clothes On Fire.

From Wednesday's daily.

Lizzie Jarrett would rather die than work a term in the work house, but, despite earnest efforts, her preference has been denied her.

LIFE A BUNNEN

Yesterday she made three attempts to commit suicide, and came near succeeding. Lizzie is a negro about forty years and an old police offender. Yesterday she became angry at a little boy, John Hawkins, as she struck him on the head with a rock cutting and ugly gash in his scalp. She was arrested and taken to the city court for trial. Before her time came she created a lively scene by her loud mouthed obscenity, and was removed from the room. On hearing the evidence in the case, the court sentenced her to thirty days in the work house.

Lizzie fought like a gladiator while she was being taken to the lock-up, and it was finally necessary to put the "slippers" on her.

A few minutes later Judge Campbell changed to passing through the lock-up and hearing a sound as if some one was struggling he peered into a cell and found himself looking into the negro's face.

AWFUL SIGHT

Her eyes were nearly bursting from their sockets, her tongue was protruding, and her lips were covered with froth. She had tied one corner string around her neck and the other to a bar in the cell door, and her full weight was straining against the improvised rope.

Judge Campbell's cries for assistance were speedily answered by members of the police force who unlocked the door and took the woman down. She was nearly dead, but as soon as she recovered sufficiently to walk she strove to slip from her neck and made another effort to end her existence by hanging.

She was again frustrated.

Later in the day when the officers thought she was asleep, and she gazed and relaxed her vigilance she made a rope of her underclothes, and for the third time hanged herself from a bar. Life was nearly extinct when she was rescued, and it was thought for a while that her third attempt would prove successful. Dr. Woodward worked with her a long time before she was out of danger. She has been taken to the work house.

SET ON FIRE

Once before, nearly a year ago, the Jarrett woman tried to commit suicide because of a work house sentence, and she adopted a frightful means. The police had allowed her to go home to get some clothes. While there she set fire to her dress. She repented the rash act when it was too late and, literally wrapped in flames, she ran to the Crescent Mills where a hose was turned on her. She was horribly burned, and for several days it was thought she would die.

MOVE ON CRUISE.

From Wednesday's daily. A citizens' meeting was held at Guthrie Monday night and some warm speeches were made because the agreement entered into some days ago were not carried out by some of the property owners who had promised to make them vacate. A meeting will be called for tonight and some action will be taken. This is not a meeting to get rid of some smaller patient, but to rid Guthrie of bad characters.

DEBENTURE COMPANY

Quees into Receiver's Hands And The Share Holders Are Wailing.

There is much howling here and elsewhere over the condition of affairs of the Continental Security Redemption Company, of Birmingham, which was placed in the hands of a receiver by the United States Court last week. A large number of Hopkinsville people had money invested in the concern, and some are heavy losers. There is no telling how much will be returned to the holders. Geo. A. Blinn, Jr., one of the stockholders and directors of the concern, and one of the three who caused the receiver to be appointed, when asked how much would be returned to the debenture holders, replied that he could not tell.

There are all sorts of rumors heard, but those interested fear they will get back little or nothing.

No official statement is made as to the liabilities of the concern, and the receiver is actively engaged in preparing such a statement.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of the Red River Chapter, No. 241, U. O. V., held on the 13th inst., the committee appointed at a previous meeting of this camp to draft suitable resolutions expressing the deep sorrow of the camp at the death of Dr. M. E. DeWitt, reported as follows:

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His wisdom to remove by death Rev. M. E. DeWitt, D. D., from this world, he it resolved:

1. That in the death of Dr. DeWitt, we, the surviving members of Red River Chapter, No. 241, U. O. V., have lost a brother who was greatly beloved because of his gentle, genial and successful discharge of the delicate and responsible duties of citizen, comrade in arms and minister of the gospel, and also because of his faithful and gallant conduct as a soldier in the Confederate service and chaplain of the Eighth Tennessee regiment.

2. That the Church has lost a wise, useful and godly minister whose cheerful and pious offices will be missed, not only by the members of his own communion, but by the world at large.

3. That this community and especially we, his associates and brethren in camp, deeply deplore the loss of his early years, his sincere words, and his brilliant presence of a good man and cultivated and honorable gentleman, esteemed and honored by all.

4. That as some expression of sympathy in this great loss, a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother, a copy be furnished DAILY NEW ERA for publication, and that they be spread on our records.

ANCIENT BURYING GROUND OF PREHISTORIC ORIGIN?

Rooting Hogs Unearth On Campbell Farm Mystery Of Archaeological Interest.

A part of the farm on which Campbell's cave is situated in full of dead men's bones. This fact was accidentally discovered a few days ago.

MEMORY RUNNETH NOT.

Years and years ago, at a time no living man remembers nor history records, there was a burying place there. It was not a cemetery like those of civilization, and apparently it was not an Indian mound. If reports are true, the discovery will require the study of archaeologists to determine its origin.

One day last week, Mr. Dick Littlefield, the popular commissary sergeant of Company D, who operates the farm, built a sty for his hogs on a spot between the cave and the residence. He noticed that the hogs were doing an unusual amount of rooting, and on a further investigation he found that they had uncovered numerous bones which a close inspection showed to be from human skeletons.

Mr. Littlefield continued to push his

BEVERLY NOTES.

After a prolonged period of drizzly gloom, the glad beauty of earth smiles upon us. Nature's throbbing heart beats responsive to the touch of the farmer. She awakes, and smiles, and with outstretched arms, enfolds us. The flames peeping cautiously to see if old Winter has ceased his fond backward glances at shy young Spring, throw off their warm hoods and prepare to greet the May.

Not alone the flowers—but Beverly is "looking up"—really and truly on the rise. She now boasts of two imposing shores.

Mr. Geo. H. Major has moved from Howell into the Adams store and his family to his home at Beverly.

B. A. Whitlock still occupies the Wood building and is acting postmaster. Rural Delivery depends him. Nothing like competition to bring down prices—and merchandise too! At any rate, it is time to test one's friends.

Some of the farmers fear owing to unreasonable weather, that the planted crops will not generate. Wheat looks especially well, but is ever the most deceptive of crops. In quality, quantity and price. The past two days are of some of the most unrelenting in a farmer's life. Every man from seventeen to twenty years, had to share in working the roads, and some excellent work in culverts etc., was done under the supervision of Mr. E. B. Major's efficient road overseer, preparatory for grading by Mr. J. M. Major.

It would be amusing and pleasant to see the city "exquisite" working their streets as our best blood young men have to do the roads—and it seems an unjust discrimination. All well all and they be feeds the world and is, namely the "King of the earth," he does not, in some cases, wear the crown, or receive compensation for his products. If wonder the world's the farm! and yet, some of the world's greatest men have come from the plow-handle. In former years farmers would scorn to let wives and daughters work; but now it is not uncommon to see the wife, so carefully reared and exempted from work, and pretty refined daughters, performing services that should not be, by them—while the husband and father, who they himself variously in nature, as to their own rights say: "This is what is killing thousands of women—overwork, and trying to make five dollars do the work of seven. There is a lot to be made—a lot that cannot be sweetened by any earthly conditions, and cannot be baked by any ordinary oven—the loss of domestic happiness. All the ingredients are from heaven; fruit from the tree of life, sweetened with the new wine of the kingdom, and baked in the oven of home trial. God only can make that loaf. You can cut it, but it takes God to make it."

The entire community was shocked and pained to learn of the recent death of Kaufman Texas, of Mrs. Joe. Gusten, who had just moved from Beverly. She was a sister of Mr. Howard and P. H. Major and of Mrs. Joe. Greenwood, a most excellent and beloved woman sincerely mourned.

Mrs. Arthur Roberts is a visitor to Mrs. T. H. Major.

Misses Hattie and Emma Major and Mrs. Mollie Major are visiting Mrs. Minor Oayon.

Medadene Jones, Major of Orrick Hill, E. B. Major and Mrs. M. Oayon spent a day at Mrs. R. L. Word's with their baby—girl—all sweet and pretty and dainty in infantile loveliness. But we must yield the pen to our Beverly baby. Mrs. Ernest Major's "Little Annie Ruth."

Miss Katie Townee, owing to illness gave up the school at Beverly and is succeeded by Miss Buff of Tallah. She has a flourishing school and is a competent teacher, we learn. A teacher's life is laborious and the remuneration never commensurate. We are in truest sympathy and friendship with them all, with pardonable pride in Miss Katie Townee.

An glad to know that the New Era is gaining friends and has additions to its list at Beverly.

Mrs. Leavell was the widow of Mr. George Leavell, who was a prominent citizen of this county. She was 65 years of age and an influential Christian woman of fine intelligence and many splendid traits of character.
